Livability, that's what we're all about

The Upper Rogue is a somewhat undefined area as maps go. But for most of us it begins at White City and the junction of Highway 62 and Highway 140. It includes that delightful area known as Lake Creek, Eagle Point, Butte Falls, Shady Cove, Trail, and Prospect and Union Creek, in addition to White City.

Only Eagle Point, Butte Falls and Shady Cove are incorporated. Each of the eight areas are quite distinct. One will find ranches and cattle in the Lake Creek area where the Grange and Lake Creek store are very important. Many White City residents work at Amy's, SORCC (V.A. Veterans Domiciliary) and Wal-Mart or commute the nine or so miles to a job in Medford. White City is attracting a number of light industries where it once was known for its timber mills.

Eagle Point is located three or four miles from White City. It went through a huge growth period, which included an 18-hole golf course, several hundred homes, Wal-Mart and two new schools, with a third in process. It is headquarters for the school systems that includes all the Upper Rogue except Prospect and Butte Falls.

Shady Cove and Trail could almost seem like one community. The beauty of the Rogue River along with some fine dining makes these two communities special, especially for those visiting the area.

Butte Falls has long been compared with the "little engine that could" or the "little town that could" despite the loss they have encountered due to economy and the rules regarding harvesting trees. But, they are creative, ambitious and are very much a community that cares about its own.

Prospect, like Butte Falls, has endured through the logging issues, making them a place that must be visited. Taking Mill Creek Drive off Highway 62, observing the water falls, visiting the Prospect Hotel where many famous people also hung their hat years ago, is a delightful experience. The hotel is in A-1 condition with delicious food and a variety of special events.

On up Highway 62 before one turns off to Crater Lake is the very well known area of Union Creek. In the winter it is a well known winter wonderland. In spring and summer there are a number of activities at the lodge.

Hiking trails abound whether it is around the Butte Falls, Prospect, Union Creek area or on down around Lost Creek Lake. One never lacks for things to do in the Upper Rogue.

It truly is a place where livability abounds—it is truly what we're all about. Enjoy.

Eagle Point

It has been 100 years since the first government was formed in Eagle Point. There weren't as many rules and regulations. Transportation was a bit slower. Even so, we have some things today that we had then. As an example, the Butte Creek Mill was just shy of 40 years old when Eagle Point officially incorporated. School District 9 was in existence and had been since either 1863 or 1865. We have a number of homes that were built during 1911 or shortly thereafter. And the two story buildings each began during that period.

Today some of the offspring of the founding fathers are still very much an active part of the community.

The next very noticeable change for Eagle Point came about 30 years later as Camp White was built taking in thousands of nearby acres. When the camp was torn down at the end of WWII, a number of homes were moved to Eagle Point and part of their recreation hall became a school facility in Eagle Point.

Note another 30 years in passing, and it was the early 1970s when housing developments began in the city. A new high school was built.

Mark roughly another 30 years and Eagle Point became one of the fastest growing communities in Oregon. Some 600 homes were planned for the Eagle Point Golf Club community. Other subdivisions quickly sprang up both at the north and south end of the city.

Two new schools were built in Eagle Point eight years ago. An early morning fire prior to the start of the school year and before the new schools were ready, destroyed most of the old junior high school. It required double shifting students, but the community had done that before so they came together and did what was necessary.

That insurance money is now building a new grade school, which will open in March 2012.

Will it be another 30 years before there is a major change? Only time will tell.

This Centennial year various groups have been holding events every 2nd Saturday. At the end of the Centennial year a time capsule will be placed in a vault in Centennial Park to be opened in 25 years. Perhaps by that time those opening the capsule will know if the city is preparing for another major change.

There are plans in place now for more changes once the economy stabilizes. More parks will be developed. There is a plan approved for Little Butte Park. All the recent development has left virtually no room for growth so the city staff and council are working on an expansion plan. Another item being looked at is transportation. As the city grows and the population ages, the need for "mass" transportation becomes a greater consideration.

The City of Eagle Point and the Chamber of Commerce are starting to work together to improve the business climate and overall appearance of the community.

As Eagle Point has grown and changed, residents are getting to know one another, learning to work together and help one another. It is that process that continues to make small communities such as Eagle Point a worthwhile place to live and raise a family.

Centennial Plaza Fountain

Judge Stewart House

Judge F.M. Stewart was elected to the position of city recorder for Eagle Point in 1911, the year Eagle Point was incorporated. He held court in the entry area of his two story home. When the voters of Eagle Point voted to become a part of Fire District 3 instead of having a volunteer fire fighting crew, the Fire District purchase the property on Loto Street that was once the Stewart home. The structure had been remodeled and was the residence of the mayor and his family.

To preserve this bit of history and to provide more business opportunity downtown, the city purchased the house for $1 and paid to have it moved downtown and refurbished into several business offices.

Right: The Judge Stewart house in its original location on Loto St. Below is the house as it stands today on Main St. Eagle Point.

Butte Creek Mill & Antique Store

The Butte Creek Mill has been part of Eagle Point since 1872. Over the years it has seen several owners, but none have been as community-minded as Bob and Debbie Russell, who purchased the mill about seven years ago.

Bob has been a collector of antiques for most of his life as is reflected not only in displays in the mill but in the antique shop next door to the mill, also owned by the Russells.

They took part of the downstairs area near the inner workings of the mill and created a charming wine tasting room and small meeting area.

Tours are now available, generally with little notice, to watch the miller grind the grain.

The area between the Mill and the Antique Store features some seating on the lawn area to watch Little Butte Creek. This is especially enjoyable when the salmon are running upstream. While wildlife, including deer, continue to meander across Royal Avenue by the Mill, there are eager beavers who have gnawed their way through some of the trees., not to the liking of the Russells.

Butte Creek Mill relies on water for its operation but it is not operated by a water wheel. Upstream from the mill, water crosses a small dam, flows into the millrace and into a 12 ft. deep penstock where its weight provides the pressure needed to activate a turbine. The turbine runs the wheels, belts and pulleys and turns the large millstones that grind the grain, which is fed into a hopper.

On the main floor of the Mill one can find the grains and mixes for sale, along with many delightful, fresh spices. Of course, the mixes are from Mill products and can include pancake mix, cornbread mix, mixes made with wheat flower, and so forth. The abundance of history starts as one views the old structure. Just imagine building it with no power equipment, using double-bit axes and hand saws. The foundation pillars are nearly two feet square. The beams are morticed with hardwood pegs and square hand-made nails, clearly evident today. It has endured while many newer structures have not.

Russells have special events throughout the year, such as Vintage Faire on the 2nd Saturday in May and Peddler's Faire the 2nd Saturday in June (June 11).

The Mill, located at 402 N. Royal is open Monday-Thursday 9-6, Friday and Saturday 9-5 and Sunday 11-5 p.m. Both the mill and the antique store are free. Visit www.buttecreekmill.com For information call 541-826-3531.

Eagle Point Parks

Eagle Point has several nice parks and has plans for additional ones. We have added the Harnish Wayside area and Centennial Plaza in this category because they fulfill a need many think of when they think of a park—and that is to have a place to relax and enjoy.

Harnish Wayside- While the Harnish building is featured elsewhere, the grounds at Harnish are available year 'round.. The grassy area is a most welcome sight. Picnicking is available with tables and grills. There is an area set aside for pets. Parking easily accommodates motor homes or trailers. Restrooms are only open when the Harnish building is open.

Harnish is located at Hwy. 62 and Old Hwy. 62 or So. Royal, the second entrance to Eagle Point, from the south or the 3rd from the north.

Mattie Brown Park- Located on So. Royal just before the intersection with Loto. The park can be reserved for family picnics or other gatherings. This is done through Eagle Point City Hall (541-826-4212). There is a horseshoe pit and several very nice structures for children to play on. Restrooms are open at 8 a.m. - dusk during the summer. They are closed during the winter as are all public restrooms in Eagle Point.

Little Butte Park- This is an unimproved park on the other side of Little Butte Creek. Cross the creek at Loto or Main and turn left, past Little Butte School and not far beyond it the road narrows and on the left is the park area. There are no restrooms. Plans have been approved for a very nice park, funding is yet to be available.

Chamberlain Park- Take No. Royal beyond Butte Creek Mill and turn left at the second street (Reese Creek). The Park is on the left just beyond the mobile home park. There are restrooms, a nice horseshoe pit, playground equipment and room to let children run and play. Restrooms are open during the summer from 8 a.m. to dusk, closed during the winter.

Bob Moore Park- In the center of the downtown area. It is a nice place to sit and enjoy the shade. There are restrooms (see schedule above) nearby in the back of the Judge Stewart House (2 story structure).

Nova Park- Across from city hall and the library on Main St. It is a small park with a bench or two and lots of trees. No facilities, just a place to sit and relax.

Ponderosa Park- Small quiet wayside in the Ponderosa subdivision off Alta Vista.

Centennial Plaza- Opened in February. Gazebo, tables, benches, water fountain, well lighted. It is a well designed plaza located at the corner of Main St. and Royal Ave., across from the covered bridge. The creek is just across the street.

Covered Bridge

Bridge 202, also called Antelope Creek Covered Bridge, is a downtown attraction in Eagle Point. It spans Little Butte Creek at Main St., providing a safe passage for elementary school children. It was one of two identical covered bridges constructed in 1922 by the Hartmans. One spanned Yankee Creek which flows into Antelope Creek, where the second bridge was constructed. The Antelope Bridge was moved 18 miles down two busy state highways from its original location to Eagle Point through a large community effort in 1987.

Plaques have been placed on several large rocks as a memorial to our veterans. Benches, flowers and some shade make it a nice spot to sit.

Harnish Wayside

Eagle Point's information center, Harnish Wayside, located at the corner of Highway 62 and Old Highway 62 is named for one of the long-time families in Eagle Point. The visitor's center is patterned after the livery stable known as the Harnish Livery Stable constructed in 1913. The Harnish Visitors Center sits on part of the 50-acres originally owned by the Harnish family.

When the City of Eagle Point designed the information center, it was done to truly provide visitors a sense of history and information about the area. And to that end there are eight very large murals and seven sculptures designed by Ali Pearson.

In the Little Butte Fish & Wildlife room, one will see a "Little Butte Cross Section" 6 x 8 ft. mural featuring the fish and wildlife found in the creek. There is a mural of the Takelma Indians in their pit houses along Little Butte Creek. These are two of the four 4 x 14 ft. murals, two 5x8 ft. and two 6x8 ft. murals and seven sculptures to be seen inside the Harnish Center.

In addition, there is a water monitoring system of Butte Creek connected with the Medford Water District.

Harnish Visitors Center, completed in 2008, sits on the bank of Little Butte Creek. There is ample parking and room for RV's or trailers. The location is perfect for a picnic area, with some tables, plenty of grass and shade.

Handicapped accessible restrooms as well as an information attendant is available when the center is open. Unfortunately, the economy has required reduced hours. Harnish is open June, July, & Aug.-Fri. thru Sun 10-8. Winter hours are 11-5. For more information contact the City of Eagle Point, 541-826-4212.

Eagle Point Community Association

The Eagle Point Community Association is best described as small but mighty. Membership probably doesn't amount to more than a handful of paid, active members. But, what they accomplish represents what community is all about.

The biggest event for this group is the annual 4th of July. It begins early and ends late. First comes a breakfast, booths all over the downtown area, a special childrens' play area, a long home-style parade, and in the evening it is fireworks time at the high school stadium. The 2011 fireworks will honor Eagle Point's Centennial and be bigger and better than ever.

At half-time, there is a parachute drop, sponsored by the Eagle Point Lions club. Tickets are sold and paper plates are placed around the landing area. Those who have their name on a plate where one of the parachutists land receive a nice sum of money.

Eagle Point's sister city is Showa, Japan. Officials and students have made a number of trips to Eagle Point. And even though officials were in Eagle Point earlier this year, the EPCA invited them to be Honorary Grand Marshals after the devastating earthquake took such a toll in their country. While Showa was not directly affected, EPCA members wanted their sister city to know they cared. Showa officials have accepted and will be in Eagle Point and the Upper Rogue area for several days around July 4.

Other events put on by EPCA include an Exotic Dessert in March, Easter Egg Hunt for several hundreds of children, and Christmas Around town. This includes decorating contest, lighting of the community Christmas Tree and a visit with Santa. For information about this group contact Bunny at 944-2446.

Eagle Point Museum

The Eagle Point Museum is second only to the Southern Oregon Historical Society in its collection of artifacts.

The original part of the museum has its own history. It was originally the Long Mountain School, constructed in 1925. Some 20 years later it was moved to Eagle Point where it served as a classroom, then it became a dressing room for athletes and later was used in School District 9 as a general storage building.

Several community members wanted a central location to preserve history of the area. Obtaining the museum and moving it to its location on No. Royal is actually one of the three major projects the community has done. The museum opened in the former small one-room schoolhouse in 1978.

Additions were made to the structure in 1993 and again in 1996.

Visitors may wonder why such a wonderful piece of history is hard to access. There was a major difference between the historical societies in Jackson County and the county over funding. The county quit funding all of the historical societies, including the Southern Oregon Historical Society. In 2008 before the Eagle Point Museum was completely devoid of funds, and in accord with its charter, The Eagle Point Historical society turned the museum over to the city. But no sooner was that finalized than the economy struck a blow and as a result the museum is only open parts of three days a week in the summer and two days a week in the winter.

Summer hours are: Fri - Sun 10 - 6

Winter hours: Fri - Sun 12 - 4

The museum is located on No. Royal between the covered bridge and Butte Creek Mill's antique store.

Eagle Point Senior Center

Eagle Point has a senior center located just a couple of blocks from Hwy. 62. Thirty-three years ago a few residents began talking about having a facility for seniors. The first board of directors was formed that year. The first year innumerable yard sales, potlucks and raffles raised $2,000. Several years later they were able to purchase the property at 121 Loto St. for about $9,000.

The City of Eagle Point obtained $5,000 from Federal Revenue Sharing funds. By 1983 construction plans estimated the structure cost at nearly $114,000. Six of the area major timber businesses contributed plywood and eight years after that original meeting, the Eagle Point senior center opened in March 1986.

When Wal-Mart opened in Eagle Point, they showed their desire to be good community members through contributions. One of those donations was $10,000 to the Senior Center for an expansion. And in 2006 with that money and a lot of hard work, much of it by Eagle Point Lions Club members, a spacious addition was made. The Thrift Shop is making the Center self-supporting and allows contributions to FFA, 4H and Food & friends.

Membership is $6 a year. There are a variety of activities at the Center. The Thrift Center is open Monday-Friday from 8:30-12:30. For information, call 541-826-9404.

Eagle Point/Upper Rogue Chamber of Commerce

The Eagle Point-Upper Rogue Chamber of Commerce was originally organized in 1995 as the Eagle Point Chamber of Commerce. A couple of years ago, in an effort to more clearly encompass the entire Upper Rogue area, Upper Rogue was officially added to its name. Membership is over 100. The monthly noon meeting is hosted by a different business or group. Meetings are the first Monday in the Ashpole Center, at the Eagle Point city building. The public is always welcome. They generally have a guest speaker.

The Chamber sponsors the Avenue of the Flags and 2nd Saturday events, such as Vintage Faire in May and southern Oregon's largest yard sale on the 2nd Saturday in June. They have sponsored forums to hear from political candidates, and are a major supporter of the petunia baskets seen around time from May through October. Some of the other activities have included collecting outdated drugs as part of a statewide program and doing ribbon cuttings for grand openings of new businesses.

The Eagle Point-Upper Rogue Chamber publishes a monthly newsletter. The office is located at 11136 Hwy.

There is something for everyone at the 2011 Jackson County Fair. The Fair Board recently announced the concert line-up for the Summer Fair, presented by Sherm's Food 4 Less. Tickets go on sale May 5.

Big Time Rush will set teen hearts a-flutter on opening night, Tuesday, July 19. Country-music fans will flock to The Expo on Wednesday, July 19 when hit-maker Clay Walker takes the stage. And Thursday, July 21, the Rogue Valley will be rocking along with Joan Jett and the Blackhearts.

Local and regional musicians will hit the stage over the weekend. Friday, July 21 will be the Country Festival featuring the music of Coyote Creek, Jason Johnston and Mike Boren and Amy Clawson. On Saturday, July 22 get ready for the Blues Festival featuring Curtis Salgado, The Rhythm Kings, and Broadway Phil & the Shouters. Friday and Saturday line-ups are expanding, check the site frequently to see who has joined the Country & Blues Festival.

Making use of the Lithia Motors Amphitheater, these big-name acts carry a separate entrance fee; the Gold and Silver levels guarantees assigned seating, while lawn seating will be open. Dave Koellermeir, Fair Director explains, "We had a lot of folks asking for bigger and more current artists for the Fair concert series. They also wanted to be able to get a reserved seat without waiting in line all day. By charging a small, additional entrance fee for the concerts, we are able to bring in some of the best acts and provide a reserved seating option."

Prices are as follows:

- 7/19 Big Time Rush: Gold $37, Silver $27, Lawn $10
- 7/20 Clay Walker: Gold $34, Silver $24, Lawn $9
- 7/21 Joan Jett & the Blackhearts: Gold $34, Silver $24, Lawn $9
- 7/22 Country Festival: Gold $15, Silver $10, Lawn $5
- 7/23 Blues Festival: Gold $15, Silver $10, Lawn $5

General Fair admission tickets for the Fair are $11 (age 12 and older), $6 (ages 6-11), $6 for Seniors (62+) and free for kids ages five and under. Concert attendees are encouraged to come early to enjoy the Fair. Note: General Fair admission is required to enter concerts. Tickets for the concert series, available for online purchase at www.AtTheExpo.com, will go on sale May 5 at 3:00 p.m.

The Jackson County Fairgrounds, often referred to simply as Expo, is a busy place year 'round.

There are three major events sponsored by the county fairgrounds and its board of directors. They are: County Fair, Harvest Fair and the Holiday Market.

The County Fair is always the third week of July; in 2011 the dates are July 19-24. The Fair is particularly a major event for residents in the Upper Rogue where 4H and Future Farmers of America (FFA) is an important part of life for many families and their children.

Livestock competition, major evening entertainment, a carnival, and numerous booths and demonstrations make this the biggest event in the county.

The annual Harvest Fair will be Sept. 23-25. Highlights of the popular event include the Championship Grape Stomp, a Microbrew Festival, Chili Feed and BBQ Cookoff, Draft Horse Pull, Stock Dog Trials and a Heifer Futurity.

The Holiday Market is Nov. 11 and 12 for crafters and vendors.

The fairgrounds accommodates several major horse shows during the year. On the grounds is an outside covered 135x280 ft. arena and 198 stalls. The Compton Arena seats 1200 on each side and is a 110x240 enclosed facility. There are several livestock barns and show rings.

The various installations can be rented. For information call 541-774-8270 from 8-5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

The Fairgrounds is located at 1 Penninger Lane, which is just off Pine St. and I-5 at Central Point.

Avenue of the Flags

Patriotism is strong in Eagle Point. Many of the older residents were in the area when Camp White was built. Some of the Camp White soldiers became members of the community and married some of the local young women. But patriotism extends beyond the relationship with Camp White.

A banner across Main St. says "We support our troops." But it is the flying of American flags from Highway 62 through the downtown area, across the bridge and on up the hill through town headed toward the Eagle Point National Cemetery that is the most visual evidence of this community's patriotism. The large flags fly each patriotic holiday.

Each of these flags were casket flags given by a family to Avenue of the Flags to honor those who have gone before and served us well.

The entire flag project has been done by volunteers with the placing and taking down of the flags done by community members, often including Boy Scouts and 4-H Club members. A trailer designed to carry the flags and their nine ft. poles was specifically made for the project and donated by Southern Oregon Sanitation.

In addition to the flags, there is a Memorial Wall inside the Ashpole Center, at the Eagle Point City Hall. Flags from each branch of the service are displayed with the name of the person in whose memory a flag has been given along with the donor's name.

Avenue of the Flags is sponsored by the Eagle Point/Upper Rogue Chamber of Commerce.

Individual donations and donations from businesses support the project. For information,

Upper Rogue Wineries

Grapes were first planted in the Rogue Valley by Peter Britt, at his home in Jacksonville in the mid 1850s. After getting caught by the Internal Revenue for selling wine without paying taxes, he established the first actual winery in Oregon and named it Valley View Winery.

With the death of Britt in 1905, Valley View Winery ceased production.

Prohibition in Oregon saw an end to the wine industry in 1916.

According to information from the Rogue Valley Winegrowers Association, the 18th amendment establishing national prohibition was flawed in that it allowed production of up to 200 gallons of non-alcoholic wine or cider to be made at home. It failed to define non-intoxicating.

Ratification of the 21st Amendment repealing the 18th amendment came in 1933, but it was another 30 or so years before an experimental vineyard was planted at the Oregon State Extension site.

John Ousterhout, of Eagle Point, was among the first to plant a vineyard in the 1970s. Some others included Dick Troon and Frank Wisnovsky.

And the industry began to come into its own. In 1995, nine wineries were noted in the valley. By 2008, the number was 42 on 1,374 acres in Jackson County and another 609 acres in neighboring Josephine County.

The World of Wine was established in 2003 as an annual wine and food event and finally in 2004 The Rogue Valley Winegrowers Association became the officially approved name for growers and vintners.

White City Domiciliary

The Southern Oregon Rehabilitation Center & Clinics (SORCC), locally referred to as the VA Dom, call 541-826-2111, ext. 3674.

When Camp White was no longer needed the land was sold. From those sales came the community called White City. Although it is not incorporated, there are more than 4,400 with White City mailing addresses. The industrial area, business core and all the housing one sees today is part of the original Camp White facility.

SORCC is located at 8495 Hwy 62 (Crater Lake Hwy.) in White City. The main phone line is 541-826-2111. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8-4:30 p.m.

began as Camp White in 1942. It was built in just nine months and was home to a total of a quarter of a million troops before the end of World War II.

Troops trained to serve in the South Pacific as part of the 96th Division and in the European Theater as the 91st Pine Tree Division.

Today the 77 sq. mi. WWII facility is a 145 acre domiciliary with 600 residential rehabilitation beds and a primary care and mental health department that serves about 200,000 veteran visits a year. Veterans come from four southern Oregon counties and three northern California counties. In addition to its primary care and mental health facility they have some 40,000 veteran visits as outpatients. In addition, there is a 15 bed infirmary.

Women are also cared for at the SORCC. Native Americans enjoy a Pow-Wow each spring at the facility

Volunteers play a major role at the SORCC. Some 500 volunteers spend 80,000 hours a year assisting with patient needs. One of the many volunteer responsibilities is the nine-hole golf course. To volunteer or to obtain information, call 541-830-7467 or 541-830-7468.

The Camp White Museum is a most interesting facility. The museum is located in building 200 on the main road into the facility. The first floor contains many photographs of Camp White, along with a map of the original facility. On the second floor are items that belonged to soldiers from Camp White.

The museum is open Monday through Friday, 10-3 p.m. Special tours can be arranged. For information

Eagle Point National Cemetery

Eagle Point is home to a National Cemetery. It was established as a cemetery in 1952 as an adjunct covered bridge, and on patriotic holidays to see Eagle Point's beautiful and moving Avenue of Flags, which begins at the highway and goes nearly to the cemetery.

Another access is Highway 62 and Alta Vista to Riley Road, which is two or three miles and dead ends at Riley where you will turn left and go up the hill. The cemetery will be on the right.

The cemetery is currently adding additional space for burials.

Business hours are Monday-Friday 8-4:30 p.m. Closed on federal holidays except Memorial Day and Veterans Day. Phone 541-826-2511.

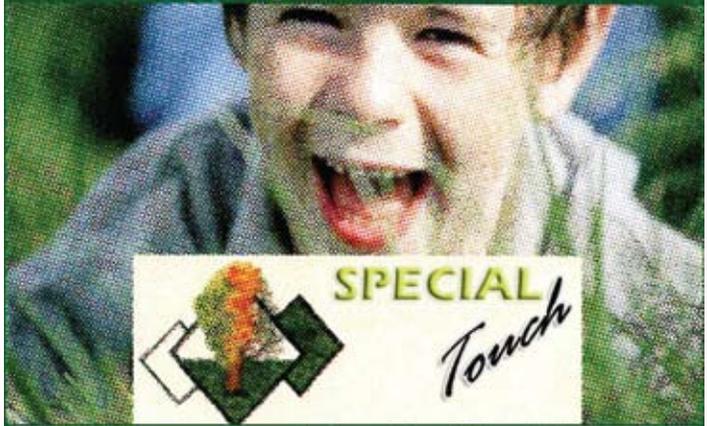

to the Veterans Administration Domiciliary in nearby White City. In 1973 it became part of the National Cemetery System and at that time became the White City National Cemetery. On March 19, 1985, the name was once again changed. That is the date it became the Eagle Point National Cemetery, in an effort to let people know where it was located.

The Carillon was donated by American Veterans. Two memorials have also been placed at the cemetery. One is a memorial to unknown veterans donated by the Disabled American Veterans and the other is in memory of the 1st Marine Division of all wars. This was donated by the 1st Marine Division.

Lieutenant George R. Tweed, U.S. Navy is buried at the Eagle Point National Cemetery. He was the sole survivor of a group captured by the Japanese after their occupation of Guam in WWII. Tweed hid on the island for more than 2 ½ years, evading capture and supplying valuable information to Allied Forces. His ordeal inspired the book, Robinson Crusoe, USN and the movie, No Man is An Island.

The cemetery is located at 2763 Riley Road. It can be accessed through Eagle Point by turning right on Highway 62 and Linn Road, go two blocks and turn left at Buchanan (which goes in front of city hall) and turn right at the next street, which is Main St. Follow Main St. through downtown, and on up Stevens Road hill, which curves left at the top. Turn right on Riley Road and on your left is the cemetery. It is open daily from sunrise to sunset. This is the best way to go to view Eagle Point's

Tips For Going Green

A step-by-step plan to lead a more eco-friendly life and save yourself a little money

Buy Local - Shopping at a local farmers market or buying local in your grocery store doesn't just support your area agriculture, it cuts down on the CO2 emissions that result from the thousands of miles food normally travels to get to your table.

Stop Idling - Idling your car for more than 30 seconds gets 0 miles to the gallon. If Americans reduced their idling by 2 minutes, it would save our country 400 million gallons of gasoline per year.

Recycle - Sorting and recycling your trash works! If every American recycled just their Sunday paper each week, it would save 500,000+ trees every week and create more recyclable fibers for the paper industry.

Change your Bulbs - Compact fluorescent light bulbs produce the same amount of light as standard incandescent bulbs but consume 1/3 of the energy. They also last 10 times longer. Switching just 5 bulbs in your home or office can save almost 500 pounds of CO2 and $40 per year in energy costs.

Adjust your Thermostat - Turning your thermostat down 2° in the winter and up 2° in the summer not only saves energy, but can reduce your heating bill by 3% each day.

Take Better Showers - Showers account for 32% of home water usage. Keeping your showers to 10 minutes and installing a low-flow showerhead can save a family of 4 up to 20,000 gallons of water each year.

Stop Junk Mail - 100 million trees and 28 billion gallons of water are used to send junk mail every year. You can stop 75% of unsolicited mail by registering on the Mail Preference Service at www.dmachoice.org/MPS/protol.php

Don't Wash the Dishes - Loading the dishwasher will save as much as 20 gallons per full load than hand washing or presoaking. And, your dishes will be just as clean.

Repair Leaks - Check your house for leaky faucets and running toilets. Fixing leaks can save up to 2,700 gallons of water per yr.

Use Cold Water - Washing clothes in cold water saves approximately 85% of the energy used to machine-wash clothes and gets them just as clean.

Reuse Your Bags - The US consumes approximately 100 billion plastic bags each year. Using a canvas bag for your market shopping will save almost 1000 bags per year.

The Wood House

One of the more popular points of interest in the area is the Walter Wood House, commonly called the Wood House located just over a mile north of Eagle Point on Highway 62.

The Marvin Wood family (Walter's father) came to the Eagle Point area from Michigan in 1869. He built a cabin on what now would be the west side of Highway 62. It burned, but about 1870 he built a house on basically the same plot of ground. It was a two story structure fit for Marvin, his wife and eventually their three children.

When Highway 62 was being constructed, the house was due to be torn down. Wood stood his ground and eventually the house was moved across the highway to its current location. Walter Wood, one of the three Wood children, lived in the house until his death at the age of 93 in 1973.

The house is now operated as a non-profit by the Wood Preservation Group. A variety of events such as art and car shows, old tractor exhibits and photography shows are held on the grounds. It has been a very popular subject for artists and photographers.

Several years ago there was a campaign to move the old structure into Eagle Point. City and historical members could not agree on regulations and that plan did not happen. The Wood House was under the umbrella of the Eagle Point Historical Society until county funding for historical societies and museums ended. In accord with the society's charter, the city took over the museum but did not want the additional responsibility of the Wood House. The Wood Preservation Group was formed.

For more information on the Wood House call Skip at 541-826-2177.

There are no visiting hours for the Wood House, but one can view the structure along Highway 62.

Lake Creek

Highway 140 begins or ends (depends upon your journey) at Highway 62 in White City. It is the road that goes by the Jackson County ball fields and sports park, to Fish Lake, Lake of the Woods and to Klamath Falls. But before you see all of those recreation areas, be sure to note the 12 ½ mile marker on Hwy. 140 where the sign points to Lake Creek. Turn right and you will quickly enter a world of yesteryear, meadows, hay, cattle, a Grange, a Pioneer Hall, a small covered bridge and another one of those true communities one finds in the Upper Rogue.

This unincorporated area stretches along a road that is about as long as its history— South Fork Little Butte Creek Road- better known as SFLBC. Lake Creek.

For those familiar with farming in the mid-west and the Saturday gathering at the ice cream parlor or the barbershop, visiting the Lake Creek area is about as close as one can come to those memories. And today, Lake Creek even has that ice cream parlor with old fashioned milkshakes and soda, banana splits, even the old style ice cream tables and chairs help to take you back a generation or so.

Lake Creek was, as it is today, two words. That was in 1886 when the first postmaster arrived and when Lake Creek had a post office. For some unknown reason in 1894, the name became Lakecreek. In 1959, the post office became part of history and Lake Creek became part of the Eagle Point rural route. And, in 2007, the name once again became Lake Creek.

Lake Creek

Your tour will take you pass the 82-year-old Lake Creek Grange, the first of several structures Lake Creek structures built by the local members. One of the fund raisers was to measure member's feet and have them pay a penny an inch for the size of their foot. The Grange is still active and in use.

Just down the road is the Lake Creek Pioneer Hall, home to the Lake Creek Historical Society. It sits in a fenced park-like setting used for receptions and weddings. Take time to take in the local history. There are a number of activities year 'round. The Lake Creek Historical Society is one of the few that is surviving after the county ceased funding them. This society has sold cookbooks, publishes a periodic newsletter featuring old-timers, and local history. They put on dinners, have guest speakers, and manage to keep the group going as well as Pioneer Hall. The Historical Society is very much a part of Lake Creek-yesterday and today and plans to play that role in the future.

Situated on the grounds of Pioneer Hall is the Charley Cabin. It was built in the 1880s. In 1919 the Grissom family, one of the long-time families still residing and active in the Lake Creek community, purchased the property and cabin. For a number of years it was used as a place for hunters or ranchers to stay overnight,. In 1994, it was moved to its present location by the Lake Creek Historical Society.

About four miles down SFLBC is the Lost Creek Covered Bridge. At 39 ft., it is the shortest covered bridge and believed to the oldest, circa 1878-1881, in Oregon. It is closed to traffic. The community gave it a new roof and portal boards in 1985-86. The Walch Memorial Wayside Park is at the edge of the bridge. Descendants of John and Marie Newsome Walch built and continue to maintain the park. It includes picnic tables, a bandstand, cooking area, a 1900 outhouse and beautifully cared for flowering gardens. It is another favorite for weddings.

On your return trip down SFLBC, before exiting the road, you will want to turn right to see the Lake Creek Learning Center. The community school is part of School District 9 and serves approximately 50 K-5 Lake Creek area students in two multi-age classrooms.

Back on Highway 140, by turning right, it is about 15 miles to Fish Lake and just a short way beyond that to Lake of the Woods. Or, turn left and head back to White City or Eagle Point.

Shady Cove

A look from above at how the river winds through Shady Cove.

Shady Cove is officially the newest city in Jackson County, having been incorporated in 1972. But that does not mean it lacks in historical significance and activity. While records go back thousands of years, records show fur trappers from the Hudson Bay Company wintered near Shady Cove in 1827. Perhaps it was the protected “cove” area that attracted them. History does show settlers in the “cove” in the early 1850s.

With WWII and the development of Camp White, Shady Cove was a good location for timber mills. The area prospered, until the flood of 1964, which took out the major mill in Shady Cove, destroyed the bridge that connected Shady Cove and Prospect to Highway 62, and it destroyed many homes.

It was the final straw for many and plans began that eventually saw Lost Creek and Applegate Dams built. The dams have eliminated major floods.

Highway 62 runs through the center of Shady Cove as does the Rogue River. It is a center of activity for tourists wishing to float and/fish the Rogue. Between Shady Cove and Trail (just north of Shady Cove) there are three fine restaurants, each with dining on the banks of the Rogue.

Shady Cove is known for its many events including Daffodil Daze, Tie Days, SPAM® Festival, Art Walk, and Christmas activities.

Ginger Rogers

This year marks the 100th year of the birth of Ginger Rogers. Born on July 16, 1911 in Independence, Missouri, she died April 25, 1995. Her birth name was Virginia Katherine McMath.

While many are familiar with her stardom, it was her lifestyle in Oregon that was not so widely known to those beyond the bounds of southern Oregon.

In 1945, Ginger purchased a 1,000 acre ranch just north of Eagle Point. One can still identify it by the red roofed barns on the left as you travel beyond the junction of Hwy. 234 and 62, about 3 ½ miles north of Eagle Point. There she built a modern dairy. She supplied a lot of milk to the local folks including Camp White soldiers. The dairy business lasted for seven years.

In 1969 Ginger Rogers sold her California home and she and her mother made the RR Ranch their permanent home.

In 1992, Ginger Rogers was one of the honorees at the John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts. She was accompanied to the event by her secretary, Erlene Thomson and her husband, both of whom are area residents.

This year, one of the Southern Oregon Historical Society's fundraisers was "Glitz and Glamour" held on May 1. Rogers local residency will be honored throughout the year with events in the Upper Rogue.

Rogue River Lodge, in Trail, will salute Ginger Rogers with an "Elegant Evening on the Rogue" celebrating her 100th birthday, July 16, 2011.

Dining will be reminiscent of the 40 and 50s featuring classic dishes such as Salad with Green Goddess Dressing, Chateaubriand, Strawberry Romanoff, and so forth. There will be a special pink champagne toast to Ginger. Tables will be set for eight on the back lawn/pavilion. Dancing on the pavilion will begin at 6 p.m. Attire will be semi formal (sports jackets for men). Remember, this is mid July.

As of deadline time for this publication cost for the dining experience was not available.

The same evening Madrone Kitchen and Wine Tavern, in Shady Cove, will also feature a 40s era evening with music by the Gayle Wilson Trio. The three course dinner including music and a complementary champagne cocktail will be $55 per person.

On up the highway, Union Creek Music Festival and the Prospect Fly-In both plan a salute to Ginger on July 16.

The 7th annual Shady Cove River ArtWalk, Aug. 13-14 will continue honoring Ginger Rogers as an accomplished artist. "Field Flowers in Green Vase" is a Ginger Rogers painting.

Upper Rogue Community Center

Shady Cove is privileged to have a large, very active community center. Known as the Upper Rogue Community Center, it is located back and between the city hall and the library, at 22451 Hwy. 62.

The center was incorporated in 1981 and as it celebrates its 30th year, completion of a major expansion is expected in June 2011. The center will have 4,122 sq. ft.

Over the three decades it has become the center of many events and activities. With the expanded facility there will be a computer lab available for both students and adults. An after school homework program, weekly lunches for $2, card games, exercise classes, holiday dinners and meeting rooms offer something for everyone. Located in a separate building, just across the driveway to the center is the URCC Thrift Shop. It is open Monday through Thursday from 10-4

Another key component of the center is their transportation program. While Shady Cove, Eagle Point and White City each have medical, dental, chiropractic and physical therapy and pharmaceutical facilities, Medford has the most extensive medical specialists and hospital facilities between Sacramento and Eugene.

Shady Cove is located about 20 miles from Medford making transportation for many senior citizens difficult. The URCC operates seven vans, three of which are wheelchair accessible. Priority is given to those with medical needs. The service is only available to members and then it is based on fair market. Annual membership (July 1-June 30) is only $10 a year.

The vans service residents of Prospect, Butte Falls, Trail, Shady Cove and Eagle Point as well as portions of White City, with at least 24 hour notice. Vans operate Monday through Friday.

In addition, the center provides a weekend adult activity field trip at least every other month. For more information on the transportation program call 541-878-2702 or email urcc216@earthlink.net

ACCESS operates a food pantry in the center each Thursday from 12n to 2 p.m.

There are a number of free medical supplies available to borrow. These can include walkers, canes, crutches and bedside toilets, among possible additional items.

Regular center hours are 9-5 p.m. weekdays.

For information call 541-878-2702.

Special Events in the Upper Rogue

Each Father's Day, Shady Kate's in Shady Cove, puts on Tie Days. You will find her business with a tree full of ties and you may well find ties hanging from a number of business fronts in Shady Cove. She asks, what is more typical for Father's Day, than the perennial gift of ties?

This year's Tie Days RiverFest is Saturday, June 18. Events begin at 11 a.m. Event tickets are limited to 1,000 headliner concert/rafting bracelets. Parking is open at 10 a.m. at various locations in and around Shady Cove. Bracelet holders can park in designated south Shady Cove locations and board the trolley to attend various functions.

Enjoy rafting, music, arts and crafts displays and a BBQ. There will be a hosted BBQ at Rogue River RV Park.

Joni Harms will be the concert headliner with Brianne Kathleen opening the show. Advanced tickets are $15, or $18 the day of the show. Tickets are available at Shady Kate's, 21584 Hwy. 62, Bargains on Rogue, 22077 Hwy. 62 or at Floyd Boyd's, 5759 Hwy. 62.

Proceeds from a raffle will help support the Boys and Girls Club in Shady Cove.

For information, call 541-878-2084 or 541-821-2120.

Those who grew up during World War II surely remember SPAM®. For several years the residents of Shady Cove have wanted people young and old to remember SPAM®. And to do so they hold a festival named in its honor each year.

This year the SPAM® Festival is Saturday, June 25, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the banks of the Rogue River in Shady Cove. There will be booths, a dunk tank, free children's carnival, watermelon and pie eating contest, a silent auction and, of course SPAM® burgers, along with the traditional hamburgers and hotdogs.

The event is sponsored by the Shady Cove-Upper Rogue Chamber Visitors & Convention Bureau in cooperation with the Jackson County Upper Rogue Regional Park. For information call 541-951-6346.

Trail, with a population of 600, is hardly identified along the highway, but it has several important and interesting places to see. It is another of Jackson County's unincorporated communities.

Trail residents get their mail at the Trail Post Office and they have a museum, namely the Trail Creek Tavern Museum.

Instead of turning at Hwy. 227, continue around the bend on Hwy. 62 and a short distance up the highway on the right hand side is Rogue River Lodge, Rogue River Lodge will salute Ginger Rogers with an "Elegant Evening on the Rogue" celebrating her 100th birthday, July 16, 2011.

Dining will be reminiscent of the 40 and 50s featuring classic dishes such as Salad with Green Goddess Dressing, Chateaubriand, Strawberry Romanoff, and so forth. There will be a special pink champagne toast to Ginger.

Pink will be the color of the evening since that was Ginger's favorite color. Table will be set for eight on the back lawn/pavilion. Dancing on the pavilion will begin at 6 p.m. with The Mixer's Band performing big band favorites.

Attire will be semi formal (sports jackets for men). Remember, this is mid July.

As of deadline time for this publication cost for the dining experience was not available.

For information, all 541-878-2555

The museum in Trail is unique in name and thus its history. The museum is called the Trail Creek Tavern Museum. The main building housed a tavern and restaurant that opened for business after prohibition in 1935 and had its share of history until it was shut down in 1996. The Upper Rogue Historical Society originally wanted the museum in Shady Cove but when that was not feasible, they saw a unique opportunity by acquiring the tavern. And the Trail Creek Tavern Museum opened its doors in 1997.

One can learn a great deal about the "good old days" of logging with a visit to this museum. Relics are both inside and outside. Old equipment such as a logging truck from 1940 and an 87-inch diameter water pipe made from wood take visitors back in time. Museum members are always on the lookout for interesting old pieces of equipment.

Visitors will find a blacksmith shop, the old Trail post office the original 12x20 ft. Shady Cove City Hall, circa 1973, and other artifacts such as an old log wagon built in 1890. The blacksmith shop is crafted from hand-hewn logs cut with an axe about 100-years ago.

The museum is reached by turning left off Hwy. 62 at Hwy. 227 (Trail Market). Make a left turn across a small bridge and the museum is on the left. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wed through Sun., mid April through Oct. 1, weekends all year. Call (541) 878-2259.

A must see on the list of some half million people each year is Crater Lake. At 1943 feet deep, it is one of the 10 deepest lakes in the world and is the clearest lake in the United States. Words do not do it justice, it has to be seen.

Crater Lake became a national park in 1902. It includes 183,000 acres. The lake is 4 ½ to six miles across.

The lake was formed nearly 7000 years ago when Crater Lake has some 140 miles of trails, more than 600 varieties of flowering plants and ferns and some 120 species of birds.

The 71-room lodge was totally rebuilt in the 1990s. It originally opened in 1915 and was expanded and upgraded in 1922. World War II saw it mostly closed. In 1989 it was judged unsafe and it was closed. Very little was salvageable. However, the Great Hall was dismantled and rebuilt, the remainder of the lodge was gutted. The new lodge, at a cost of $15 million, opened May 20, 1995.

Rogue River Siskiyou National Forest

The Rogue River Siskiyou National Forest runs from the crest of Cascades west into the Siskiyou, nearly to the ocean. It consists of 1.8 million acres. The Rogue River drains over 75 percent of the land.

There are two forest offices in the Upper Rogue; Prospect and Butte Falls.

Recreational opportunities abound in the forest, from white water rafting to wilderness camping, from lake and stream fishing to winter snowmobiling. Hundreds of miles of trails welcome users of all types and abilities - wheelchairs, horses, bicycles, motorcycles, snow-mobiles, cross-country and downhill skiers, and hikers. Camping facilities, boat ramps, picnic areas, and cabin and fire look-out rentals are available seasonally, some under rental or use fees.

The Rogue River National Forest (until 1932 called the Crater National Forest) was established by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908. The name Rogue River commemorates the Takelma Indians, whose defense of their homeland let early day French-Canadian trappers to call them les Coquins, "the Rogues". The Siskiyou Forest Reserve was established by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1905, and the Reserve was designated as the Siskiyou National Forest in 1907. The name Siskiyou is a Cree Indian word for bob-tailed horse (1828 by French Canadians working for the Hudson Bay Company).

The forest itself is composed of two distinct geological provinces: The Cascade Range and the Siskiyou Mountains. The Cascade Range is dominated by snow capped volcanic peaks such as 9,495 foot Mt. McLoughlin located within the Sky Lakes Wilderness on the High Cascades Ranger District. The Siskiyou area embodies the most complex soils, geology, landscape, and plant communities in the Pacific Northwest. World-class wild rivers, biological diversity, remarkable fisheries resources, and complex watersheds define the Siskiyou. The Rogue River-Siskiyou is the most floristically diverse National Forest in the country with some extraordinary botanical resources.

The unique character of the landscape has led to the designation of 324,000 acres of the Forest as wilderness, and over 200 miles of streams as National Wild and Scenic Rivers. Wilderness areas managed all or in part by the Forest Service include: Sky Lakes, Rogue-Umpqua Divide, Red Buttes, Kalmiopsis, Siskiyou, Wild Rogue, and Grassy Knob. National Wild and Scenic Rivers include: Upper Rogue, Illinois, North Fork Smith, Chetco, Elk, and Rogue.

Cole Rivers Fish Hatchery

The largest fish hatchery in Oregon is located at William L. Jess Dam (Lost Creek Dam). The Cole M. Rivers Hatchery raises nearly four million fish annually. Of those, about 1.77 million are spring chinook salmon.

The hatchery is located at the south tip of the dam. Take Hwy. 62 to milepost 29, which is at Casey State Park. Turn left at Takelma Drive and it is 3/4 mile to Cole M. Rivers Drive. Turn right and follow the road across the Rogue River to the hatchery, located on the east side of the river.

Hours are 7:30-4:30 p.m. For information, call 541- 878-2235.

All viewing areas are accessible to persons who are physically disabled. Self guided tours begin at the lobby. The first area of interest is the Hatching Room. Fertilized fish eggs remain here in trays until they hatch. It takes 120 days for the egg to hatch and for the small swimming fish, called fry, to fully absorb their egg sac.

From the Hatching Room, the step on the tour is to the Circular Ponds where the fry remain until they are large enough to enter the Rearing Ponds.

The Rearing Ponds have automatic feeders which dispense food every 20 minutes from dawn to dusk. You will see nets over the ponds to protect the trout, steelhead and salmon from birds.

When the fish are ready to be released they may be trucked to various locations while some are released directly into the Rogue River.

When salmon and steelhead are one to five years old they return to the Hatchery to spawn. Workers collect sperm and eggs, mix them together and then they are taken to the Hatching Room where the process begins anew.

The hatchery was built to compensate for the loss of spawning grounds when Lost Creek and Applegate Dams were built.

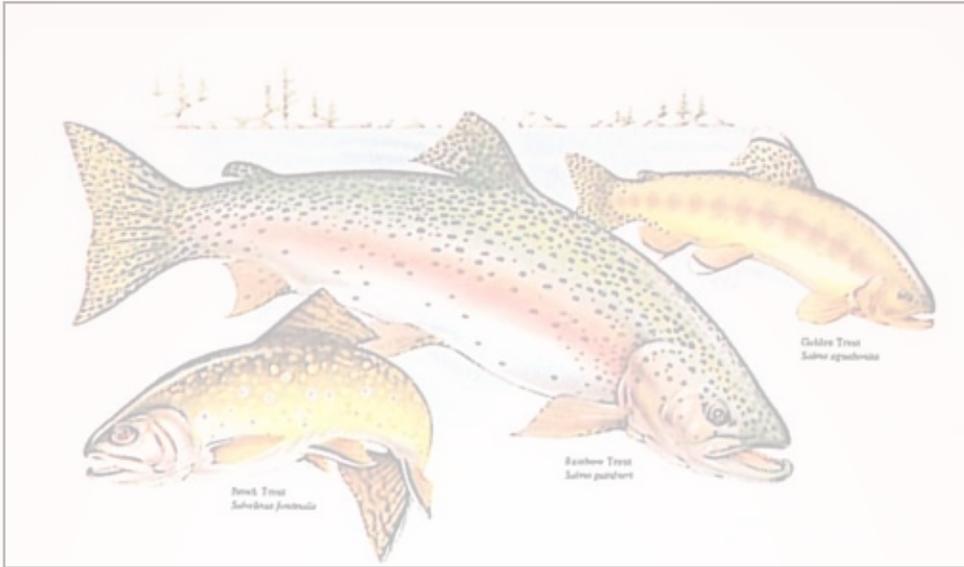

After spawning, the fertilized eggs are placed in the hatching room for incubation. There are 66 stacks of incubators, each stack holding 16 trays. Each tray can hold up to 12,000 eggs. Most eggs take 35 to 70 days to hatch.

Once the fish reach the swimming stage, they are called "fry" and are moved to the outside circular ponds or raceways. There are 87 large raceways and 26 circular ponds.

Up to 350,000 fish will fit in one raceway. Rearing time runs from seven months for early release chinook to two years for winter steelhead.

The fry are fed every 30 minutes during daylight hours. It takes 1.5 pounds of fish food to produce one pound of fish.

Most of the hatchery fish are released directly in the Rogue River. Fingerling and legal-sized rainbow trout go to streams and lakes throughout the Rogue Basin.

The Rogue River

The world famous Rogue River begins near Crater Lake. From Boundary Spring it heads to the Pacific Ocean—sometimes peacefully, sometimes in Class 5 water (Class 6 being the most dangerous). As a traveler, one can see the river's origin and within a six or so hour drive be at the ocean and watch the Rogue dump into the vast blue Pacific at Gold Beach, some 218 miles from its origin. Forty-six of the river's miles are classified Wild and Scenic.

Fishing the Rogue for salmon and steelhead has long made the Rogue famous. Salmon season runs from May through July with summer steelhead beginning in July and continuing through November in the upper river.

For those wanting to enjoy the scenic beauty of the Upper Rogue, short rafting trips on the river are possible. There are a number of raft rental businesses in Shady Cove.

In the Upper Rogue, Class 1, 2 and 3 water can be found. Novices do best staying in Class 1 water. The river changes every year and this year there is an abundance of water being released from Lost Creek Lake, thanks to an above normal snowfall. This can make the river much swifter than normal.

Oregon law requires a life jacket for each person in the boat. But they do little good in the boat.

White City

White City is one of the unincorporated areas in the Upper Rogue. It encompasses at least 5,000 people. It sits at the edge of two important highways, Hwy. 62 that leads to Eagle Point, Shady Cove, and Crater Lake and Hwy.140 that takes one to Klamath Falls.

It was once the lumber mill hub of the valley, but federal rules on forestry in addition to the economy has changed it to an area of light industry. It also has several new businesses as a result of its highway exposure.

The community went through a several year urban renewal process. And as a result there are improved streets, curbs, gutters, and lighting throughout the housing and industrial area.

White City has two elementary schools and a middle school. Police protection is with officers from the Jackson County's Sheriff's Department.

It has the only swimming pool and skateboard facility in the Upper Rogue in addition to a very nice park adjacent to those recreational opportunities.

Incorporation has been a topic of on-going discussion.

White City actually began after WWII when the government was ready to sell the property they had acquired for Camp White. Land was sold to a very few. One of those, a man by the name of Glenn Jackson, purchased nearly all the land that encompasses the housing and industrial area.

He envisioned a total community with a business section, industry and residential. The industry began shortly after he acquired the land. The housing development began in 1963, followed shortly thereafter with the shopping center. And over the years the entire area has expanded to become what it is today.

Butte Falls & Prospect

Butte Falls has a population of 450 and it has a mayor and city council.

Located about 15 miles off Highway 62 (4.5 miles north of Eagle Point, turn right at the Butte Falls junction), the community is nestled in the pines at an elevation of about 2,600 ft.

It is from the springs in Butte Falls that the entire valley obtains its water. So while Butte Falls may be small, it is not an insignificant area.

The town boasts not one, but two museums and it has its own school system, which is in the process of converting to a charter school system.

Butte Falls was founded in 1906. A mid-westerner by the name of Bert Harris saw the mammoth sugar pines and the abundance of water and envisioned what we would today call a planned community. He built a park or town center, which still exists. His dream was to have businesses all around the park.

A mill was built but the community did not prosper as Harris had hoped. Over the years a number of things have affected Butte Falls and its neighbor, Prospect, both of whom depended upon logging. Environmental rulings and protection of the spotted owl combined to basically shut down the logging industry.

Butte Falls and Prospect remain close knit communities located in some of the most beautiful southern Oregon country. If you want to live in a slow-paced community, surrounded by forests and good people, one of these two communities would probably suit your needs. Both Prospect and Butte Falls get quite a bit of snow during the winter. This is something that is rare on the valley floor.

Prospect also has its own school district, which became a charter school system in 2009. It is situation not far from the headwaters of the Rogue and has some of the most spectacular river scenery found anyplace. Places like Pearsony and Mill Creek Falls, natural bridge and nearby Union Creek. It is gorgeous country. And, of course, Prospect is close to Lost Creek Dam.

Prospect is an unincorporated community. So like White City and Trail, it has no formal government. But it has some big doin's such as the Prospect Jamboree and Timber Carnival. The Timber Carnival is one of a few such events found anywhere any more. It is a one-day event in August. This year's event should be Aug. 20. Prospect also has a small airport and has an annual fly-in. Small planes can land in the high country when the valley is fogged in, but they need to make a pass or two to be sure there are no deer or elk enjoying the landing strip.

Butte Falls always has a July 4th Parade and two years ago began a Memorial weekend celebration in honor of veterans. The celebration in 2011 was on Saturday May 28. It features a bed race, for which they will surely become very famous, while Prospect's annual parade comes with the Jamboree.

Prospect also has special events at the Prospect Hotel.

Libraries

There are 13 new libraries in Jackson County. Before they were all completed, the government changed some of the methods by which this county and many other counties received money from an agreement dating back many years and referred to as O&C (Oregon-California) monies.

As a result of the shortage of funds, libraries closed for a period of time. County library service is now contracted out and each library is only open on a part time basis. However, the libraries have formed very pro-communities facilities and have strong Friends of Library groups.

In northern Jackson County there is a library in White City, Eagle Point, Butte Falls, Shady Cove and Prospect. Each has a Friends of the Library (FOL) group that helps the library obtain needed funds.
